Southridge Dental Group owner Dr. Sanjay Merchant

wasn't expecting the wow factor when he chose Apteryx XVWeb with embedded artificial intelligence X-ray analysis to help his group consistently deliver an exceptional patient experience across multiple providers and practices.

In just a few months, his two-location group saw a 15% increase in production, which he attributes to more consistency in diagnosing and a significant increase in case acceptance.

AI-Powered X-Ray Analysis

With Apteryx XVWeb, Dr. Merchant and his team overlay the AI findings to see where the AI has detected potential decay, bone loss, periapical radiolucencies, open crown margins, and more oral health conditions. That's helped create clinical consistency between providers.

“It's such a powerful tool because interpreting decay with the human eye is inherently subjective. When you can make it objective and measurable, then it reduces the chance for human error.”
